As part of Pari(s) : La Semaine De L'art, Kamel Mennour is presenting a specific project: the reconstruction of his signature booth, the same one he invented for the FIAC at the Grand Palais. The 2020 version is therefore truly "exterior and exceptional", to be discovered under the glass roof of Number 6 Rue du Pont de Lodi.

At a time when postponements and digital fairs are the order of the day, Kamel Mennour is determined to bring these artworks to life by offering visitors a poetic journey and a genuine, physical experience.

As with many other Parisian galleries now, the aim is to maintain the city's strong artistic dynamic, and to show the importance of doing everything possible to rekindle the flame and create an unmissable moment for art-goers.

A challenge and a rich artistic Paris all to be discovered on Wednesday 21 October from 11am... and equally embodied in our gallery at 28 Avenue Matignon with an exhibition/focus on a historical work by the American artist Frank Stella.

Plus, don't miss the final days of the exhibition "Brutal Family Roots" by Mohamed Bourouissa at 47 Rue Saint-André-des-Arts. And a new space located at 5 Rue du Pont de Lodi will be opened on Tuesday 3 November 2020, with an exhibition by two major French and international artists: Daniel Buren and Philippe Parreno. "Simultanément, travaux in situ et en mouvement" will be on view until 6 February 2021.

Kamel Mennour and his team will present the 6PDL booth in three Instagram Lives on Wednesday 21 October, at 11am, 3pm and 7pm.
